

GLAGOLITIC TRADITIONS IN MANUSCRIPT PRAYER-BOOKS OF THE 17TH CENTURY

(Summary)

Subject of the article are newly discovered copies of texts for the office of “The Blessing of the Waters on the Eve of Epiphany”, which are known only from the glagolitic Euchologium of Sinai (10th–11th c.). The copies are discovered in two manuscript prayer-books of 17th c., which are kept in the “St. St. Cyril and Methodius” National Library in Sofia, № 251 from 1641 and № 621.

The texts of 17th c. are very archaic in their language and they are very close to the Old Bulgarian text.
