

AN OPINION ON THE DATE OF THE EARLIEST CYRILLIC INSCRIPTION

(Summary)

The article adduces arguments that the Cyrillic inscription from the village of Krepcha was created in the 12th c., i.e. two centuries later than the date that has become popular. The main argument is that the second letter in the number that gives the year since the creation of the world is not Ѡ with a numerical value of 400, but the Cyrillic letter Ѧ with a numerical value of 600.
